Calling all early birds! Join us bright and early as we depart the Community Center and head to the Johnstown Amtrak Station. From there, we'll board the Pennsylvanian train for a scenic ride to Altoona. Along the way, the train will slow as it navigates the famous Horseshoe Curve, giving passengers an excellent view of this 220-degree engineering marvel and the surrounding mountain landscape.

Upon arrival in Altoona, we'll walk across the street to the Railroaders Memorial Museum, which highlights the history of railroad workers and rail communities in central Pennsylvania—especially Altoona, the Altoona Works, and the greater Pittsburgh region.

Next, enjoy a buffet lunch at Prime Sirloin (included). After lunch, we'll head to the Horseshoe Curve National Historic Landmark for an up-close visit. This iconic site played a vital role in American industry and transportation history and features a small museum, orientation films, observation areas, and a gift shop.

Before heading home, we'll make a sweet final stop at the Boyer Candy Store, where you can pick up treats for the ride back.
